

EESF Attends Kids' Day in Bienville Square

June 21, 2007

Mobile, AL – Program Director Laurie Dueitt and Development and Marketing Director Leslie Schraeder attended Kids' Day in Bienville Square Park that was held on Thursday, June 14, 2007 in Mobile, Alabama. While at the event, Dueitt and Schraeder discussed elevator and escalator safety with over 150 preschool children. The pair also distributed Safe-T Rider activity books to the children.

Kids' Day in Bienville Square is an event that is hosted by the City of Mobile Office of Special Events each Thursday during the summer months. Kids' Day features free fun activities for the kids. The day the staff attended there was face painting, clowns making balloon art, arts and crafts booths, a petting zoo, the Dauphin Island Sea Lab and authentic South American dancing.

As the children traveled from booth to booth, the staff passed out the activity books. One child from Community Nursery and Preschool Academy said, "I know what this is, it is about elevator and escalator safety." This comment triggered a great discussion about the safe riding rules.

EESF plans to attend Kids' Day again later in the summer and present the full Safe-T Rider program to the kids.
