

EESF LAUNCHES THE NEW FOUNDATION WEBSITE

The Elevator Escalator Safety Foundation is pleased to announce that its newly designed website has been launched. The new website is easy to maneuver and filled with a lot of information regarding the Foundation, its programs, EESF news and events.

The Foundation created the new website in order to reach the increasingly computer savvy public. Now more than ever it is crucial to have an engaging and innovative website. It is also important to make the programs as easy to access as possible. Making the programs available to the public through electronic media in addition to traditional methods ensures greater numbers of people receive EESF's safety message.
